Women Who Do

Holly J. Carey

We often focus on the Twelve whom Jesus called to his inner circle. But throughout the Gospels, women played significant roles in Jesus' ministry. Carey closely examines the four accounts to see what it means to be a disciple—and contends it's the women who best embody discipleship, upending many long-held assumptions concerning female leadership. 256 pages, softcover. Eerdmans.

Fundamentalists in the Public Square

Madison Trammel

The Scopes Trial of 1925 is often regarded as a turning point in the history of fundamentalism. Afterwards, its adherents allegedly retreated from mainstream culture and emphasized saving souls. ## THE ANCHOR YALE BIBLE COMMENTARY

Micah

Bob Becking

Micah, famous for its images of peace—swords forged into plowshares, spears turned into pruning hooks—contains passages of hope as well as prophecies of ruin. Living in the late eighth century B.C.E., Micah predicts the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of Samaria and Judah, as well as the latter's eventual restoration. Becking makes the case for three textual sources. 304 pages, hardcover.

Peter H.W. Lau

In the seemingly simple story of Ruth's self-sacrificial loyalty to her mother-in-law, Naomi, Lau shows how God providentially cares for the lineage leading to King David (and, later, to the Messiah). Overflows with all manner of textual, linguistic, literary, sociocultural, canonical, and theological observations. Includes detailed translation notes and carefully attends to the original Hebrew and historical context. 384 pages, hardcover. Eerdmans.

C.S. LEWIS

Surprised by Joy

“Lewis is admirably equipped to write spiritual autobiography for the plain man, for his outstanding gift is clarity. You can take it at two levels, as a straight autobiography, or a kind of spiritual thriller, a detective’s probing of clue and motive that led up to his return to the Christianity he had lost in childhood,”—Sunday Times (U.K.). 304 pages, softcover. HarperOne.
